

Hoppy, hoppy, joy, joy

3-26-10

John Dunham, Messenger-Inquirer/jdunham@messenger-inquirer.com, 926-0123

Trelin Shemwell, 5 months, touches the face of the Easter Bunny on Thursday afternoon during his visit to the H.L. Neblett Community Center. Daviess County Sheriff's Department dispatcher Amanda Luttrell wore the costume while she entertained the day care children. There were a few kids who were wary of the oversized bunny.

A nonprofit organization, the Easter Bunny Foundation, provided visitations before Easter to children's institutions and hospitals across the United States and the United Kingdom. The Easter Bunny gave the kids a small stuffed bunny as they sat in his lap. This was the sheriff's department's seventh year participating in this project.